J. ALBERT TOLER. From the elevated plane of public service down through the fields of its usefulness to the community and its honorable connection with a leading profession and into the privacy of his family circle the career of J. Albert Toler has been characterized by a constant and consistent integrity born of high principles. His professional life has been marked by constant action, and as an official and citizen he has displayed public spirit exemplified in a willingness to stand by his convictions and support worthy movements.

Mr. Toler was born in a little log cabin near Oceana, on Big Huff Creek, Wyoming County, West Virginia, November 28, 1883, and is a son of Henry Paris and Darthula (Brown) Toler. Henry Paris Toler was born at Sun Hill, Wyoming County, in 1857, and died November 18, 1918. He was a son of John and Elizabeth "Polly" (Cline) Toler, and a grandson of Zachariah Toler, who was born in Ireland and as a young man immigrated to America, settling in what is now West Virginia, where his son John was born. When John was still a child the family returned to Ireland, but again came to America when he was nineteen or twenty years of age and located below the mouth of Big Cub Creek, where Zachariah Toler died at the remarkable age of 102 years, after a career spent in farming. A number of interesting anecdotes are related of the prowess, strength and endurance of this sturdy old immigrant, as well as of his son John, also a farmer, who lived to be ninety-four years of age, and of the latter's wife, Elizabeth, or "Polly," who was nearly 100 years of age at the time of her demise. Henry Paris Toler passed his life in farming, in addition to which he dealt in the timber which he cut from his land and which he contracted to deliver at the river bank. He was a leader in the Missionary Baptist Church, and, like the other members of the Toler family, as well as the Browns (who lived on Big Huff) was a staunch adherent of the democratic party until 1892, when all became republicans. Aside from Henry P. the members of the family belonged to the Primitive Baptist faith. At Oceana, West Virginia, Henry P. Toler was united in marriage with Miss Darthula Brown, who was born on Big Huff Creek, Wyoming County, a daughter of Jack Brown. She survives her husband and for the most part makes her home with her son, J. Albert. Of the eleven children of Henry P. and Darthula Toler nine are living, four of these being sons, all self-educated: W. R., who is a justice of the peace at Mullens; J. Albert, of this notice; John H., a graduate of Concord Normal School and West Virginia University, who is now principal of the Mullens District High School; and Buren H., a graduate of Concord Normal School, who also attended the State University, served in the World war, and is now superintendent of schools of the Slab Fork District.

In his youth J. Albert Toler attended the schools of the community in which he lived, including the Laurel Branch school house, a log structure of one room, and when still little more than a lad entered upon his career as an educator, a vocation to which he devoted, in all, four years. His first trip outside of the county occurred when he was twenty years of age, when he went to the Concord Normal School at Athens, attending that institution for a part of two years. He then resumed his teaching activities, and while thus engaged borrowed law books and began to prepare himself for his chosen profession. Eventually he attended Kentucky University, now Transylvania, and in June, 1907, was admitted to the bar and located at Pineville, the county seat. There he was in partnership with R. D. Bailey, now occupying the bench as circuit judge, until 1912, when he was elected prosecuting attorney and served in that position until December 31, 1916. In July, 1917, he was appointed a member of the County Court of Wyoming County to fill out the unexpired term of H. M. Cline, resigned. Later Mr. Toler was in partnership with D. D. Moran, of Mullens, for two years, but is now engaged in practice alone. He stands among the leaders of his calling in Wyoming County, and in his profession is known as a man of sound ability, a valuable associate and a dangerous competitor. Mr. Toler has always proven himself a good citizen, supporting worthy movements and contributing to worthy causes. During the World war he volunteered his services as a "Four-Minute Man," and made numerous speeches in this connection, as he did also in behalf of the Red Cross and in the loan and other drives, at the same time contributing generously of his private means. He is a staunch republican in his political allegiance, but has never allowed party loyalty to blind him to justice. Fraternally he holds membership in the local lodges of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Knights of Pythias, in both of which he has numerous friends.

On October 28, 1907, Mr. Toler was united in marriage with Miss Victoria Trent, a daughter of Humphrey and Armina Trent, formerly of Rhoderfield, McDowell County, West Virginia, where Mrs. Toler was born. Five children have come to this union: Lyman, Raymond, Beatrice, Ruth and Kate, of whom the last-named died at the age of five years, October 28, 1930.
