Hi Sonja,

I just opened this email after I sent you one this morning. I had so many to go through today.

This week is going to be very hectic for me, but I can come and see you (for Lunch?) next week.

So would I be correct in that you a lawyer that acts or an actress that lawyers? ha-ha!

Here is a recent picture from a lunch with some of my former colleagues. I have not aged anywhere near as well as you, but I don't feel like I am 52.

Yes, I am married and I have one son and 3 grandsons. (all very handsome - must have been the milkman) and a newly adopted grand-daughter from Ethiopia.

Talk to you soon,
Chris

hi chris,

it sure is!

hey, i remember you!

you were fun!

what a pleasant surprise!

let me know when/if you expect to be in the downtown toronto vicinity any time soon!?

yours,

sonja

p.s. this week's Now Weekly plus Eye Weekly mags have inserts for the Canadian International Documentary Film Festival in April, which is featuring me in "Lovable" (about singles! - am really twice divorced)

p.s. got any recent pics of yourself? are you married? kids?

Hi Sonja,

Yes, I did get your message. I was out of town last week on business . My work cell is 416-678-8189. I would love to to have lunch with you.

I signed up at classmates as Sean Patrick ( my middle names) , but I am in the school listing as Chris Waters. The reason I contacted you ( I have been looking for you for several years ) was that I am trying to tidy up all unfinished business (that has nagged at me) with anyone that I was close to at some point. No I am not dying, just more in touch with my mortality now that I am over 50. And I have have always regretted not being able to speak to you more clearly . I was slightly intimidated by you in high school so I never told you something very simple yet difficult. I hope we will be able to speak sometime soon.

Chris,

ps. I received flowers for my birthday in 1978 or 79? The card said "To My Prince Charming" and as you had been the only one to call me that up to that point , I was wondered if you had sent them. And I always wanted to thank you if you had.
