Susan Kurzweil

Hi Everyone:

Who is tired of being home and watching your horse sit in the pasture? I know I'm ready to do some riding and according to a rumor I heard, there is a chance, if there are no new cases of the Equine Herpes Virus, that we may be able to resume our horseback riding activities by late June.

Keeping that slight unknown in mind, please consider attending our upcoming LCHA fun activity of Polocross on Saturday, July 23rd. It's going to be an early activity at 8:00 am, so we can use the cooler part of the day.

We will be meeting at Kay Thomson's arena in Berthoud. Please plan to arrive at 7:30 am, so we can be ready to ride at 8:00 am. This event will run for approximately two hours, with the first hour covering instruction and practice and the second hour splitting into teams and giving it a try. Most of the time you will be walking or trotting, but please wear your helmet.

Please RSVP by July 10th using email to Susan at Susankurz@aol.com or give me a call at 970-663-6738. All equipment will be provided and the cost is $20 per person. Come, have some fun, and learn something new!

Editor's Note:

Here is some information on the sport from Wikipedia:

Polocross is a team sport that is played all over the world. It is a combination of polo and lacrosse. It is played outside, on a field (the pitch), on horseback. Each rider uses a cane stick to which is attached a racquet head with a loose, thread net, in which the ball is carried. The ball is made of sponge rubber and is approximately four inches across. The objective is to score goals by throwing the ball between the opposing team's goal posts.

Anyone who can ride a horse can play Polocross, which also helps improve riding skills. All ages and abilities are encouraged to play...

For more information about the sport, you can search for "polocross" on Google or other search engines.

By the way – we won't expect anyone to dress in a uniform, to look as good in the sport as these pictures and drawings show, or to be an expert at polocross after only one hour of instruction for you and your horse. We do hope that you will have lots of fun.

LCHA Is Going to the Fair – Will You Help?

August 1- 8, 2011

Hello to all, I hope the start of this wonderful summer finds you and your horse(s) healthy and in Great Spirit!

This year's Larimer County Fair is coming up in several weeks and our fair booth is always a fun thing to be a part of. We need volunteers to work in the booth. As a volunteer, you get to meet a lot of people and share all the things that LCHA represents and does for our county plus the activities we have to offer to our members.

We'll also need volunteers to help set the booth up, and to take the booth down.

Can you spare a few hours in August? Would you like a chance to come to the Larimer County Fair and spend some time talking to prospective members and folks who have horses or are interested in the world of horses? And there's no fee to come to the fair, so lots of folks should come by.

Here are the time slots for this year's fair. There are no events going on Wednesday or Thursday so the booth will not be manned.

We will be in the Ranch Way Indoor arena. If you are interested in volunteering to help man our booth, please email me for the time you would like to work. There will be two people at the booth for each time slot so if you are volunteering for yourself, I will arrange to put someone to work with you.

On Sunday morning, Aug 8th from 6:30 AM to 9 AM, they serve a free breakfast.

Please contact Gary York 970-203-0144 or my.stall2@gmail.com

THANKS for volunteering!

Editor's Note

This is one of the really great activities we support. It is the best chance all year to present LCHA to the public, to let them know we exist, and that we are a great group. We also have a good time talking to folks who walk by, telling them about LCHA and our horses, and just enjoying the conversations we find ourselves in. We depend on our volunteers to make our Fair appearances a positive experience. Sign up, and have fun while supporting LCHA.

Welcome to the New Fiscal Year for LCHA!

Welcome to the new Board of Directors. These are members who are willing to set aside time to bring value to the horse community. The new board members and their phone numbers will be in the August newsletter (this is July's newsletter which went to print before the election picnic.) We are very open to all members' input, so give us feedback and ideas. We hope to make this program year – 2011/2012 – a great year for the horse.

The last two months, with the scare of the EHV-1 virus, is a good example of the use of our e-list. Trying to put this news and ever changing updates on the web site would have been a full time job for TJ. Through the LCHA simple list, we were informed by caring local veterinarians and members forwarding the Colorado State veterinary reports. Join the e-list for updates, emergency information, and LCHA activities location changes (picnic). If you want to receive current LCHA information, you MUST be on the e-list. Join today by contacting Bonnie Templeton at 970-622-0982.

We are all volunteers for this great organization. Every member tries to do quality work, whether working on the trails, riding the trails, programs, fund raisers, training activities, or helping the county. Join in saying "I am proud to be a LCHA member and volunteer."

"The simple things done with quality are a doorway to horsemanship."

Ed Odgers

This quote referred to a number of activities done on a daily basis when we are around our horses. Examples:

- Noticing how one prepares the bridle or halter before approaching the horse.
- Noticing the horse's expression while approaching.
- Noticing the activities going on around you before and during the task at hand.

Noticing, noticing, noticing, noticing is what the horse is all about. The simple things done with quality are a doorway to horsemanship.

We had a spectacularly beautiful day, almost cloudless with warm temperatures, but not too hot.

After introductions and tool demonstrations, we started “up” trail – well, actually, the first part of the trail leads downhill to the stream that runs down Lion Gulch. We saw little work to do until we had reached almost a half mile. We blocked a side trail or two (the Forest Service prefers that users stay on the main trail), and blocked off some wider areas where the trail had begun to slide down a hill, leaving it potentially unsafe.

Everybody helped, making the work light and fast.

We continued up the trail, and found some areas in which trail traffic and mother nature had “gullied” the trail – beaten a depression on the trail tread between the hillside on one side and a mound of berm on the other side. We removed the berm, putting the mound of earth on the trail tread and tamping it down so that water would flow directly across the trail rather than flowing down the trail, which causes erosion of the trail itself.

Berm removed from the downhill side of the trail and put into the trail tread to stop trail erosion in a gully; the tree trunk defines the edge of the trail so that users won't wander off the side of the trail tread

Another section of berm removal; the tree trunks and branches define the edge of the trail so that users won't wander off the side of the trail tread. A check dam (the log across the trail) holds the downhill end of the repaired trail tread in place as the trail starts more sharply downhill.

We fixed other sections of the trail that needed berm removal. By lunch time, everyone was ready for a break and a chance to have our sandwiches. Thanks to Subway of Berthoud for donating a 6-inch sandwich for each volunteer on our trail maintenance trips. This time the sandwiches were turkey, and they tasted good after a morning of work.

Before we reached our lunch spot, we noticed another section of trail that needed a different type of solution to a gully. After lunch we returned to that section and built 5 new check dams (these are barriers directly across gullied trail). We use check dams when the gully is deep or in a location in which we can't remove berm. The dams slow down the water that flows down the trail; when the water slows down, it drops sediment it is carrying. Eventually, the sediment builds up in the trail tread, filling in the gully.

It actually works that way!

After the check dams, we headed back to the parking lot, and then to the Dairy Delite in Lyons for a treat for ourselves and some quiet chat before going home.

It was a really good day on the trail. We had a good time outdoors on a beautiful trail, we enjoyed each other's company, and we accomplished important work on the trail.
