

Mission Statement

To present the consequences of premarital sex and the benefits of abstinence to college-age women and provide them with an opportunity to make a memorable commitment to be sexually pure until marriage.

Problem

College-age women are losing their virginity before marriage, causing the spread of sexually transmitted diseases, unplanned pregnancies, unsatisfying marriages, and broken hearts. A study conducted by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention found that 79.5 percent of college students 18 to 24 years of age are sexually active. College women need to know that if they haven't yet made the commitment, it is not too late, and, if a woman has already been sexually active, she can reclaim her purity. College women need to be encouraged, not forgotten.

Solution

A women's banquet designed to motivate and encourage college-age women to embrace purity, ultimately giving them a memorable opportunity to solidify this special commitment.

The Banquet

The purpose of the "One Knight Only" banquet is to unite college-age women in an elegant setting and give them the opportunity to hear many speakers share their personal stories and viewpoints on committing to purity before marriage.

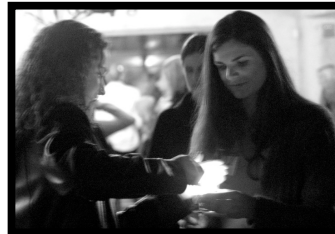

Attendees will enjoy different perspectives from some or all of the following: a married couple, a college-age woman, a doctor, and a high-profile public figure.

Attendees will receive a three-course meal catered and served by the event venue as well as musical performances by recording artists or members of the community.

The Commitment

The evening concludes with a commitment ceremony, during which each participant will have the opportunity to sign a commitment card, light a candle, and make public her decision to commit to purity until marriage.

After two years of contemplating the idea of a women's abstinence event, Jaime Rau founded Purely Committed.

A native Minnesotan, Jaime enjoys running, backpacking, and photography. She was awarded the Acts of Kindness Award by Minnesota Governor Jesse Ventura, and she had the opportunity to lobby for abstinence education funding in Washington, D.C. with the current Miss America. Her greatest ambition in life is to be a wife and a mother. Encouraging abstinence is Jaime's contribution to promoting healthier families and relationships.

The successful Purely Committed events have taken place internationally including banquets in California, Louisiana, and South Africa.

All U.S. events have reached the goal 250 women in and over half of made the commitment to purity during the candle lighting ceremony.

The majority of the banquets have been held at the Radisson Hotel. Keynote celebrity speakers have included actor Kirk Cameron and Tara Dawn Christensen, Miss America 1997.
