

RANDOM ITEM TABLE IV

- 01: Collection of U.S. Military unit badges (23 misc. badges GM's Discretion)
- 02: Box of eight coloring books, each about a different popular cartoon character
- 03: A Folding table (with one bent leg)
- 04: Box of 12 magnesium flares (one flare burns for ten minutes)
- 05: Tarnished Brass Knuckles
- 06: Mini-DVD computer game Fallout 4
- 07: Box Full of Hard Soap Bars
- 08: Mini-DVD player with assorted Movies and musical disks (7 disks total) needs bateries
- 09: One box of plastic wrap (30 meters)
- 10: A larger Aluminum Christmas tree
- 11: One five-person inflatable raft (missing oars)
- 12: A sledge hammer
- 13: A coil of high tensile strength wire (25 meters)
- 14: Rubberized plastic hammock
- 15: Five rolls of plastic packing tape (each roll contains 20 meters)
- 16: Three Pip-Boy 2000 Personal Data Assistants with sealed permanent batteries (use mini-DVD's)
- 17: Ancient portable hand cranked record player
- 18: 80-liter glass aquarium with air pump and filter (filter dirty and the pump in broke)
- 19: A metal pressure cooker (rusted)
- 20: One Velvis painting, An image of a singer, obviously, very old. The image has a felt coating that is still in good condition. It weighs 12 pounds.
- 21: package of Firecrackers (sealed in plastic wrap)
- 22: A Buyers guide of old coins (published in the late 21st century)
- 23: Strap on metal spurs. (wearing them allows a character to climb a tree, or wooden pole like the cable guy)
- 24: Four 5-meter-square fishing nets
- 25: An empty reel capable of holding 300 meters of nylon line
- 26: Small steel wire cutters (chipped edges)
- 27: Tazer (delivers 500,000 volts, at a range of 10 meters)
- 28; World war II map of America
- 29: Lexicon of the German Language Published Circa 1932 (English Translation)
- 30: Six Long-handled, metal, campfire forks
- 31: Four (intact) Philips everlasting LED Light bulbs
- 32: One chain cutter
- 33: Five rubber-band wind up balsa wood model airplanes (flies 10 meters)
- 34: blow gun (5 darts)
- 35: You Have No Idea. Upon further inspection, you still have no idea what this is. It weighs 1 pound.
- 36: A collapsible, two-burner, camping stove (operates on Ethanol, is currently empty)
- 37: Four liters of Ethanol
- 38: Twelve miniature microphones (bugs) – (sealed batteries, operates at a 200 meter distance)
- 39: 1000 meters of coiled nylon rope (550 cord Aka: Parachute cord)
- 40: Two decks of bicycle brand playing cards (still sealed in box)
- 41: Copy of Aliens Vs. Predator the movie platinum edition on Mini-DVD (new in box)
- 42: A book on card games
- 43: One Everlasting Philips Blue-LED flashlight. Missing batteries)
- 44: One Dozen standard E-clips (six are fully charged, four are half charged, one is empty, one is cracked and will explode if re-charged)
- 45: E-clip re-charger (pre-rifts design)
- 46: two pairs of ever-sharp scissors
- 47: One set of Ginsue Steak Knives (Blades are dull)
- 48: Bio Med Gel. A jar of Bio Gel used in the biomedical field. It weighs 1 pound.

- 49: A plastic tarp (7 x 7 meters)
- 50: Two cans of fluorescent yellow (krylon) spray paint
- 51: Cat's Paw Issue #5. This is the hard to find Issue 5 of Cat's Paw magazine. The pictures aside, this issue has a wonderful article on energy weapons.
- 52: One crate of 200 rubber gaskets
- 53: Choke chain for training a dog sized pet
- 54: Set of four large, fluffy bath towels (Hilton resort) never used carefully folded and stored in a sealed box
- 55: Cheezy Poofs. A box of cheese flavored puffs. They are extremely good. It weighs 1 pound.
- 56: Folding super sharp metal hacksaw (blade broken)
- 57: Insulted industrial asbestos boots
- 58: Damaged Rubber Doll. This inflatable rubber sex doll has a torn seam. It's obviously been well used. It weighs 20 pounds.
- 59: A one-liter bottle of pure scotch whisky (Circa 2042)
- 60: 25 meters of electrical wire, four sets of electrical plugs, and wire strippers
- 61: A Mini-DVD recording of the last American Presidential address to the nation ( vaguely referring to new data that indicates contact with extra-dimensional intelligent life)
- 62: Motorcycle helmet with full face visor
- 63: Five variable intensity light switches
- 64: Deck of "Tragic" Cards. This is a deck of cards from a collectible card game. Looks like it could be an expensive hobby if you got hooked. It weighs 1 pound.
- 65: A brand spankin new set of Lawn Darts in mint condition
- 66: Weapon cleaning kit (missing bore rods)
- 67: Box of Miscellaneous light sockets
- 68: Titanium Pry bar (1 meter long)
- 69: Full-dress Generals uniform (Soviet Union era) Medals and ribbons included
- 70: Perfectly preserved set (sealed in plastic vacuum bags) of all volumes of the Advanced Dungeons and Dragons RPG by TSR, Inc. 1st edition hard covers.
- 71: Fallout 2 Hintbook.
- 72: Eight sets of Silver eating utensils
- 73: A large illustrated book of Pre-rifts birds
- 74: fifteen meters of garden hose with a sprinkler attachment
- 75: One gross of men's athletic socks (brand new, assorted sizes) – (Haynes)
- 76: Box of Rubber bands (dried out assorted sizes)
- 77: UV/IR goggles (cracked lenses) but operational
- 78: Travel cage for cat sized animal
- 79: 1 Thermos brand cooler
- 80: A sealed 4 liter can of butterscotch syrup
- 81: Spray can of rust remover
- 82: Optical music chip of Vanilla Ice's son making his record-breaking rock-rap debut
- 83: A set of Five cook books: vegetables, meats, chocolate deserts, breads, and cooking with herbs and spices (over 100 recipes total)
- 84: A case of 24 Li-ion photo batteries
- 85: Thermometer / barometer desk set
- 86: Six meter long metal tape measure (numbers faded off)
- 87: Hearing aid (broken, if used will cause temporary deafness in ear)
- 88: Manual on plumbing
- 89: Twelve bottles of assorted herbs and spices (un-tainted)
- 90: Box of 30 red Jimmy Hats
- 91: pocket sized Spanish dictionary (brittle pages)
- 92: Three oil lamps (missing wicks)
- 93: A wireless keyboard from a Mac G7 (complete with a small retractable mini-screen for when you're typing on the go, so you can hot sync with your computer later on). The "G" key is missing, and the spacebar sticks.

94: G.E.C.K. The Garden of Eden Creation Kit. This unit is standard equipment for all Vault-Tec vaults. A GECK is the resource for rebuilding civilization after the Rifts. Just add water and stir. It weighs 1 pound.

95: Manual on how to use signal flares

96: Howitzer Shell. A 75mm Howitzer shell. The casing has mostly corroded away, but you can make out these letters. EXP. 9-25-98. It weighs 40 pounds.

97: Mirrored Shades. This is a pair of fashionable and deadly-looking mirrored shades. Just having them in your inventory makes you feel cool. It weighs 1 pound.

98: Mr. Nixon Doll. You see a small doll with a big red nose. For some reason, you don't trust this seemingly-innocent child's toy.

99: Human Brain. A typical human brain. Normally they are found in human skulls. Yuck. It weighs 5 pounds.

00: Magic 8-Ball. This black sphere is some strange precognitive device... a small window on the top seems to be able to predict the future! Pre-Rifts humanity must have been geniuses to invent such a wonder! It weighs 1 pound.