

EXPLORING THE WORLD OF DISNEY COLLECTING

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 2007

I've been meaning to start a Disney Blog for a long time, but I could never figure out what I could do that would be at least a little bit original. Finally I settled on the one aspect of Disney Collecting that has been the most fun and rewarding...Disney License Plates. I'm going to focus mainly on license plates that reside in my personal collection and the collections of other family members, with occasional forays into the collections of other people. I will also include some other items in my collection from time to time. Mainly I just want to have fun and share my love of Disney with other Disney fans.

POSTED BY RYAN CROCHET AT 2:23 PM

LABELS: MISCELLANY