Outside the Parks...

When it comes to collecting Disney license plates, as with any other aspect of Disneyana, sometimes we have to look outside the parks to find our collectibles. When Disney started producing their license plates they didn't restrict themselves to only plates that pertained to their theme parks. Some plates were made to commemorate special events in the history of our nation:

Other plates were made to spotlight some of our favorite classic Disney characters:

Still others were made to remind us of some of our favorite types of characters:

One thing is for sure. No matter what the subject matter Disney does a terrific job of reminding us that the parks and resorts are not the only stars in the Disney galaxy!
