

We shall fill that empty void with the constancy of our demands for our civil rights, with the perseverance of our impartial actions, while not disregarding the virility and energy that can make possible the legitimate achievement of our rights.

Lino D'Ou
Cuba, 1871-1939
(Revista Cúspide, July 15, 1938)