

Marcelino Arozarena (Havana, 1912-1996). A poet committed to his people. His oeuvre explores the basic essence of Afro-Cuban life's traditions and vicissitudes. He does this with linguistic resources and an originality drawn directly from oral tradition, which situates him among the great figures of Cuban culture.