Editor's Note

I hope Spring went well for all. Before you read this newsletter, I want to apologize for the last one and I hope that the dates didn't confuse many. The publisher got swamped and we got put on the backburner. This will not happen again; hopefully.

Now for this newsletter: I would love to hear from everyone and I hope that all would submit. If you know you will be running late and can not get a hold of me due to computer problems or a busy job schedule, please call me at 215-997-9655. The next newsletter is set to have information to me by OCTOBER 31ST! My goal would to have this printed and out to members before convention so it would be GREAT if I could get things from people even by OCTOBER 20TH.

Let us see if we can do it!

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Terry Carter
El Centro, CA

Here in southern CA, we are having a rather cool summer with temperatures 5-10 degrees' cooler than normal. Daily temperatures are only 110 with night times at 80. I hope every one has had a wonderful year in showing our special breed. I know here we have had around 20 animals showing at most shows. The Rhinelander was again one of the most popular breeds at the San Diego County Fair with visitors taking lots of time checking them out.

I have heard from one of the judges at a show in the south that John Mulkey had a wonderful reserve of show. Also Pat Shuyler of Oregon informed us of a Best in show at a 4-H fair show. She sold the rabbit to the young man and he knew what he wanted. Much congrats to Evelyn & Gordon Halsey on all their BOB and BOSB wins at Spring Nationals.

Our computer has had a sincere breakdown for the last 3-4 weeks, so I have not heard much more about Spring Nationals, but I am sure a full report is in the newsletter. The problem with computers are once you switch everything to them you are at there mercy. Unexpectedly you get a ghost, spy, or a virus and you are out of commission. People with Windows 98 be careful on using Internet Explorer as our last problem came through it. Also, someone at work had the same problem over the weekend just like ours, more than 30 hrs. to get everything fixed. Thanks to Herb Arispe for his time and effort in getting our problems solved without loosing all our data on points, shows, membership and treasury business.

I sent results of the standard revision so it can be included in the new standard. Membership voted 10 to 4 if I remember right to make the changes. I think this will hold a few judges to make correct decision on spots on front legs. I do wish more members had taken the time to vote as we all need to have our voices heard.

If some of you haven't heard James and Linda Harmon had wild dogs break into their rabbitry destroying all their Rhinelanders, some Checker Giants, and some of their Lilac. James said he had some stock at Carl Hayes and would have to start all over again. If any of you in his area have some of his old lines you might give him a call and see if you can give him a hand in building his herd back up.

At present it doesn't look like Linda or myself will be able to make Convention in Rhode Island. I know that the show will run well and will be there in spirit; if not in person. This could be the year that someone's Rhinelander gets that group win and/or Best of Show.

Terry

VICE PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Lorena Ferchaud
Rough and Ready, CA

The main focus of my job as VP this year has been assembling the guidebook; please see the article elsewhere in this newsletter. I also consider myself a Northern California ambassador for our breed, as I am sure most of us do within our own regions. I have been promoting Rhinelanders in my area by way of showing a large cage full of babies and it is a sure way to attract attention! My daughter and I have hosted 4-H clubs at our barn to learn about arch breeds, and I discuss the development of the Blue Rhinelanders with the more advanced groups. I have been giving away excess bucks (these usually contain a marking fault, but only ones with good type) to our area's youth for the last 2 years. It seems that once these families get their first Rhineland, the thing that everyone mentions is their personality! Besides finding out how incredibly sweet they are, they are excited to relate stories about stealing pencils, shredding tissue paper in the house, running up the couch and flying off the backs, tormenting the cat, etc.

We went to a show this past weekend, I couldn't get a hold of the other breeders I knew in that area, and boy was I surprised to see 15 Rhinelanders and 6 breeders there! Two of the youth had entered in the youth show with just 3 rabbits, not enough for a leg, and the other youth and open exhibitors were all in the open show. They allowed the 2 youth to switch to the open for show B. In show B there was even enough junior does for a leg! The most exciting moments were when the Padlina family won BOB in open show A with a homebred junior doe! New youth member Jack Guiliano won BOB in Youth show A, then with a combined open/youth in show B, Jack won BOB again with his junior Doe! A very exciting showing all around for the Rhinelanders. Three more Rhinelanders went to new exhibitors at that show, all very excited about their calico rabbits!

I am writing the DR column now and I will not be begging for information. I am just going to call or email for the information I need. What would be helpful is if someone can keep track of numbers and winners or tidbits of information to give me about the shows or happenings in their area. The next deadline is 10/1/04, so I should be expecting some calls soon!

Lorena

SECRETARY/
TREASURER'S REPORT

Linda Carter
El Centro, CA

Many things have happened lately. My computer got sick and is a little better. We have not had any internet. Herb Arispe has been working on it so it is a little better. We did not lose anything so far. It has gotten real hot here too.

I am still working on the Best Rhinelander report and at this point it looks like I need to go back through all show reports to point Best of Breeds/Best Opp of Breeds against total number shown. A rabbit that only shown against 3 rabbits may not be as good as a rabbit that has shown against 20. Why should a rabbit that shows at a show by itself be top Rhinelander? That is food for thought so this is why I will be working on another avenue to select Top Rhinelander. At this point I have chosen Top Rhinelander using 2 points for BOB and 1 point for BOSB. That is when I discovered several Rhinelanders are winning BOB when none others are shown. I will keep working until I find a solution that is fair for all.

Many members have failed to renew their membership or are waiting very late to do so, but are still showing. I urge all to get their membership current so that it counts for the end of the year awards.

I have also noticed that there are people showing Rhinelanders at shows that are not members. Please encourage them to join for their points to count.

In regards to show reports there are still problems. Even though I have requested to have ear number for BOB and BOS, some shows have come back with no ear numbers. Please let the show secretaries be aware the importance of giving me the ear numbers.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Frank Gale
Creston, IA

The babies are finally coming. I don't know about your section of the country but here in SW Iowa, there was a drought in having young ones from fall until about two months ago. Isn't that the way it usually is, just about the time that the does decide they are willing, it turns hot and if we are not careful, the babies die of heat stroke. I don't know about you all, but I find that my young ones are bothered more with heat than the old ones. Guess it is exactly opposite of humans. Each year, I find myself suffering more from the heat than the year before. Does anyone know of a place where it never gets above 75 degrees? Boy, if there was a place, my wife and I would pack our bags and go. Of course, we would then find out that the winter nights drop down to zero or below. So one can't help but lose.

I received a phone call last night from a lady in Eastern Iowa who bought Rhinelanders from us a couple years ago. She was looking for another pair and also wanted to let us know that she was coming to the State Fair in August. Wow, finally, we have another person showing in Iowa. Before this, there was just my family and the Roland family from Central Iowa. Maybe this is the beginning to see more Rhinelanders at shows.

Speaking of the State Fair, how many of you take in your Fair. I have many people tell me that they won't show at a fair in August due to the heat. Guess my feelings is that it is just as hot at my home as at the fair, so why not show at it. Maybe it is because I become a kid again when I head to the fair. My wife and I take our camper to the Fair and spend the whole ten days camped out. In case you haven't heard about the campground at the Iowa State Fair, it goes from an empty field to a city of 8-9000 people. In a period of ten days, over 3,000 camping units pass through the gates. The units are anything from a tent to the $90,000 camping units. The camping sites are usually 20x40 feet long. It is really hard to imagine what it is like, if you have never been there.

A general point of interest, I did request that someone else start writing the article for the Domestic Rabbit. Lorena Ferchaud agreed to do it. I started a new job last year and I'm on the road 3 hours a day and I really didn't have the time. I enjoyed doing it and appreciate the chance to do it.

Finally, to the club officers, was there a decision made regarding our National show next spring regarding location. If so, please pass this on so that plans can start being made to attend the show.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Julia Krout

Well it has been a BUSY summer! I started my internship at Wyeth Research in Princeton, NJ, May 24th after graduating from Delaware Valley College 2 days before. I really enjoyed working there for 3 months, but the chance for a full-time position dimmed as someone returned from sick leave. In between driving to Princeton 1.5 hrs each way, there was Spring Nationals. It was a great weekend with the Halseys, Smiths, and Cunninghams driving in. Of course, I was very overjoyed to see Whitney climb out of that vehicle with Megan. If you have not met Whitney, it is a shame. She is such a nice girl that just loves helping out. Imagine our dear Megan, the 2003 Rubber Ducky Award Recipient, but with more energy.

Spring Nationals started for me on the Thursday heading to Lancaster with my friend, Niki, to get cooping supplies. We packed the truck full and then on Friday we picked up Nancy Plushanski and headed to State College. The traffic jams just made the trip so much 'fun' and we were glad to get to the showroom where the Gerlings helped to set up. The Cunninghams joined us a short time later with their grandchildren. Later that night my mom joined us with the rabbits in the back. She ran a little late, however, because she was pulled over for a sobriety test. Being a college town, they are all over the place and I guess a minivan was a likely suspect for drinking and driving? She was easily let go after the rabbits showed their displeasure at the policeman by stamping their feet like crazy. Before heading to bed I received the weirdest phone call in the hotel room from this crazy man Gordon Halsey. It seems that the hotel couldn't tell him how to get to the fairgrounds and he knew Julia could help him. I gladly gave him directions, but before he hung up, I needed to know how he got my hotel phone number. I quote, "Well, I just opened the Yellow Pages to hotels and started at A and asked for Rebecca and Julia Krout." I stayed at the Super 6, you can imagine how many places he went through to get to me!

On Saturday, the shows were full of fun and laughter. Sadly, I forgot to get pictures of the AWESOME awards purchased from Stineman Awards and HareRaisers. The show ended with the Nationals Judge, Paul Kyle, purchasing a trio from the Halseys winners. Being from New York, I am hoping to see his trio at the fall shows. That evening, we went to Hoss's Steakhouse and enjoyed ourselves thoroughly with the evening ending with Dave Gerling covered in whipped cream courtesy of Whitney and Megan. Sunday was even more fun and I hope that the fun continues into the ARBA Convention!

GUIDEBOOK COMMITTEE REPORT

Lorena Ferchaud
Rough and Ready, CA

I gladly volunteered to assemble the first guidebook in say.... 23 years. What started out as an exciting treasure hunt - collecting long forgotten information from many of our founding members, compiling a breeders list all the way back to the original imported rabbits, interesting stories about the formation of the club and articles concerning the health and well-being of our special rabbits - has come to a grinding halt as the information has dried up to nothing. I have received articles from Dave Gerling, Bob Whitman, Joanne Purpus, Mike Avesing, Martha Adams, and Pat Shuyler. I have gleaned articles from DR, borrowed ideas from other guidebooks and rewritten them to pertain to Rhinelanders. I am at a loss as to how to get the other members to send information for the guidebook. I already missed my first deadline of Rhinelander Nationals, and want to have it put together by convention, 16 weeks away! I did not receive any advertising from any breeders, and haven't heard back from the commercial advertisers I sent letters to. I sent a letter to 8 judges and only received 1 judge letter and one regret from them. My intent was to put together an informative and somewhat entertaining guidebook for our breed, and will probably end up have much of that because what I have gotten is quite good, but will feel incomplete, due to lack of input.

If you are so inclined to send me articles, info, memories, I would surely appreciate it!

For those that were at Rhinelander Nationals, examples were printed by HareRaisers and was on display. From this we were able to choose what 'orange' we wanted. I will have merchandise and order forms at the ARBA Convention. I have been unable to contact Fox's for patches for many months.

STANDARD COMMITTEE REPORT

Terry Carter
El Centro, CA

Quoted from the official letter from Tex Thomas:

August 4 2004

.....Item #1 The proposal to move the disqualification for the "any spot on the front legs" from the side marking section to the feet & legs section, failed by a 0-9 vote. It was felt that the current standards uses feet & legs section to describe the physical features. While we agree the disqualification does not necessarily belong under the side section, it is more appropriate being included as part of the marking descriptions, rather than the physical description.....have a feet & legs section added to the marking section (suggested).....Thank you for your work in the submission of the breed changes.

Yours Truly, Tex Thomas

A NOTE FROM A MEMBER

Hey, all you Rhinelander lovers out there, take a good look at the cover of the 2004-2005 ARBA yearbook (coming to all 2 year+ ARBA members) There is a Rhinelander on the cover! A lovely composite photo featuring a Himalayan, a RHINELANDER, a Mini Rex and a very young Champagne. At last, we have arrived!

A NOTE FROM A MEMBER

I thought I would just drop a note to explain why I needed to be replaced by Gordon Halsey as a RRCA Director. I was having trouble with my membership through ARBA. We had renewed it when we did Dustin's at the KS Convention but no one had any proof. We lost the receipt and had paid cash so only Dustin was listed. When Linda let me know I only had 2 weeks to work on it and it took a lot longer than that.

A NOTE FROM A MEMBER

It was a great day! One of my Rhinelanders, bought from Lorena, just took BIS at our fair "Ferchaud's Alison AJ1". The judge was Jim Clarkson and he said he was very, very impressed with her type and condition. She was in prime condition even though she was still loaded with milk and nursing 4 10-week babies that were way too old to be on mommy. There were only about 50 rabbits there and some of the competition has taken big awards at much bigger shows. This doe had a previous injury to her loin area. Even with that she still showed great and is an excellent mom. I think the judges are starting to realize that even the rare breeds can be excellent and win big. Jim commented on the unusual aspect of a rare breed standing out so much against the competition.

Thank you Lorena for helping me get started with quality,

Becky Ruesegger

NOTICE**

Page 33 of the Convention Catalog clearly states:
What to bring to Convention #4 " Hay cubes. No hay is allowed in the building due to R.I.'s tough Fire Laws. You may want to get your rabbits used to the cubes before leaving for the show."

BLUES REPORT

The progression of the development of the Blue variety of Rhinelander is rolling right along with very promising outcomes. Since my last report, the first litter of F1 crosses are 5 months old, and the buck with the best type has been bred back to a Blue/Fawn Harlequin doe. She is due on August 26th. The first F1 litter had 7 kits, 6 of which were marked quite a bit like a Rhinelander: 3 bucks, 3 does. They have many faults in their markings, which was expected, but all have full face markings, sides spots, some nicely separated, some congested, mostly broken spine markings. One or two have full spine markings. The buck that was used to breed back to the Harlequin doe already had 1 dark slate blue side spot. They all have flyback fur, not rollback like the Harlequin. They are all loaded with the typical Rhinelander energy and personality. The above Harle doe was loaned to me with a baby blue Harle doe, who now has a litter of F1's but by an unrelated buck as the father of the first litter. There is one buck and one doe that was kept in that litter. There are many possibilities upcoming to the mixing and matching, always striving to keep the type, personality and improve the markings till they come in line to our current standard. I have shown them to 6 different judges and they have all commented that I was anywhere from 2-4 generations ahead of where they expected I would be with the first cross. Joey Shultz was very impressed with them, and said the doe I showed him, if she had a complete spine marking would have been competitive in that day's show. She has about 5 nicely separated spots/side.

Dave Gerling (NY) is starting another line using his own Harlequins and Rhinelanders and Logan Jacot (OH) is beginning his own also. The Carters (CA) and Becky Ruegsegger (CA) are getting Blues when they are in the part of development where you don't have to keep Harlequins. I think other people have contacted me about helping at this point, but I will have to check my notes.

At a show this past weekend, I had 2 requests for Blues from people that had just heard about them, not knowing they were in development, so it looks like the interest is there.

Please contact me if you are interested in developing your own line of Blues.

Rhode Island Report

Only a few months away, and it will be seafood and lighthouses for all of us! A quilt has been made by Lorena Ferchaud and a picture of it, it isn't all done it but you get the idea, can be seen elsewhere in the catalog. I know many will not be able to attend convention this year due to its location, but we hope that you will still buy tickets. Taking time herself, Lorena made little ticket books and they can be purchased by contacting me by mail, phone, or e-mail and by contacting Lorena. PLEASE BUY TICKETS!!! PLEASE SELL TICKETS TO YOUR FAMILY!!! They are being sold at $1/ticket and $5/6 tickets (one book).

The booth will once again be manned by mom, Becky Krout, and she would appreciate any donations to the raffle table as well as manpower to man it.

We will also be having a Rhineland Trio raffle! A trio of rabbits are being donated with one coming from Lorena Ferchaud, one from Dave Gerling, and one from Martha Adams! I will be in charge of ticket sales for this too. Tickets can be pre-purchase by contacting me by phone, e-mail, or phone. They are $2/each or $20/15. This is another way to support the breed you love! I am in the process of getting photos of the prospective animals.
